1. Scope and legal framework

This notice applies when you visit Masana WebWorks online, submit an enquiry, request a quotation, become a client, use support channels, or otherwise provide personal information to Masana WebWorks.

Masana WebWorks aims to process personal information in accordance with the Protection of Personal Information Act 4 of 2013 (POPIA) and other applicable South African law.

2. Responsible party

For the personal information covered by this notice, Masana WebWorks acts as the responsible party unless a project-specific written agreement states otherwise.

3. Personal information we may collect

- Name, surname and preferred contact details.
- Company, organisation or project information.
- Project requirements, content, preferences and correspondence.
- Quotation, invoice and payment-related records. Ordinary enquiry forms should not be used to send card credentials.
- Technical information necessary to operate, secure or maintain a website or digital service requested by a client.
- Website interaction data technically generated by hosting or security infrastructure, such as IP address, browser/device information and request logs.
- Information voluntarily included in contact forms, email, WhatsApp or other direct communications.

Please do not submit highly sensitive information through the general enquiry form unless it is genuinely necessary for the service requested.

4. Why personal information is processed

- Respond to enquiries and prepare quotations.
- Provide web development, digital services, hosting, maintenance, support and related deliverables.
- Communicate about scope, progress, approvals, support and account matters.
- Administer invoices, payments, records and client relationships.
- Protect systems, investigate misuse and maintain service reliability.
- Comply with legal, regulatory, accounting or contractual obligations.
- Improve service quality and business processes using information reasonably necessary for those purposes.

5. Sources, required information and your choices

Most information is obtained directly from you. It may also be obtained from a person acting on your behalf, a business you represent, public business information, or technical service providers where this is relevant to providing or securing a service.

General enquiries are voluntary. If information necessary to identify the project, communicate with you, issue a quotation or provide a contracted service is not supplied, Masana WebWorks may be unable to proceed.

6. Sharing and service providers

Personal information is not sold. It may be shared only where reasonably necessary with service providers or recipients involved in delivering the requested service, communications, hosting, payment processing, records, professional advice or legal compliance.

Third-party services operate under their own terms and privacy practices. Masana WebWorks seeks to limit shared information to what is reasonably necessary for the relevant purpose.

7. Cross-border processing

Some hosting, email, cloud, payment, messaging or technology providers may process information outside South Africa. Where cross-border processing is used, Masana WebWorks will seek to apply appropriate safeguards and use providers in a manner consistent with applicable legal requirements.

8. Retention

Personal information is retained only for as long as reasonably necessary for the purpose for which it was collected, ongoing client support, legitimate business records, or applicable legal and contractual requirements. Information no longer required should be securely deleted, anonymised or appropriately disposed of.

9. Security

Masana WebWorks uses reasonable technical and organisational safeguards appropriate to the nature of the information and service. Measures may include controlled access, secure credentials, updates, backups, secure hosting practices and limiting access to people who need it.

No online system can be guaranteed completely secure. A material security compromise involving personal information will be handled in accordance with applicable legal obligations.

10. Your rights

- Ask whether Masana WebWorks holds personal information about you.
- Request access to personal information, subject to applicable requirements.
- Ask for inaccurate or outdated information to be corrected.
- Request deletion where appropriate and legally permissible.
- Object to certain processing or withdraw consent where processing relies on consent.
- Lodge a complaint with South Africa's Information Regulator if you believe your personal information has been processed unlawfully.

11. Direct marketing

A project enquiry is not treated as unlimited permission to send unrelated marketing. Where consent is required for electronic direct marketing, Masana WebWorks will seek it as required and provide a reasonable way to opt out of future marketing communications.

12. Website assistant and local storage

The current Masana Assistant is a browser-based automated helper. Chat messages are processed locally in the visitor's browser and are not transmitted to Masana WebWorks by the assistant itself.

If a visitor chooses a handoff to the contact form, email or WhatsApp, information submitted through that channel is then processed for the enquiry. Third-party messaging services are governed by their own privacy terms.

If cloud-based AI, analytics or tracking is introduced later in a way that materially changes processing, this notice and relevant consent mechanisms should be updated before that processing begins.

> The current chatbot is intentionally privacy-friendly: it provides local FAQ-style guidance and does not require an external AI API.

13. Changes to this notice

This notice may be updated when services, systems or legal requirements change. The latest version will be available on the Masana WebWorks website with an updated effective date.

14. Consent and acknowledgement

Where consent is the appropriate basis for processing, you confirm that you understand the purposes described in this notice and voluntarily consent to the relevant processing. Consent may be withdrawn in writing, subject to legal, contractual and operational requirements that may continue to justify or require certain processing.

I acknowledge that I have read this Privacy & Consent Notice and consent, where consent is required, to the processing described above for the purposes relevant to my enquiry or service relationship.
